

Artist Statements

Randy Walker

An Equinox is when the Northern and Southern Hemispheres are the closest to being equally illuminated by the sun.

I've chosen to use three of the ancient civilizations development and use of the 12 zodiac symbol describing the constellations. I have used pyrography or pyrogravure, which is a free hand art form, by creating burn marks into wood or other materials. In other words, drawing with fire.